Air Quality

As we all know, air quality in the Salt Lake Valley has been hazy. Each morning and throughout the day, we check the websites of the Utah Department of Environmental Quality and purpleair.com to see what the air quality is like in the Canyon Rim neighborhood. Air quality in the valley differs from location to location, and sensors throughout the valley tell us what the air is like around CRA. If the air quality is in an unhealthy range, then students with asthma or health related problems are kept in from recess. If the air quality gets very bad, all students will be kept in the building during recess.
