Parent Survey

Thank you to the 235 parents who responded to the Utah Education Policy Center Stakeholder Survey. Its purpose was to collect and report input from you, our stakeholders, about our school and faculty to increase educational improvement. Your constructive feedback and comments will help us make improvements in our day to day operations of the school. Not surprisingly, high on the list was the need for an updated building. For those of us who work in the building each day we too recognize the need for increased efficiencies in heating and cooling, security and securing space so parents can support their child(ren) in school plays, musicals and other school sponsored activities. Recently, a long term strategic planning committee was formed tasked to examine and explore all viable options for building a new school. We will keep you posted as ideas are flushed out and whether this pipe dream could one day be a reality. Again, we appreciate your comments and perspective. Your collective comments not only add validation to what we already know but also helps discover our own blind spots.

Shakespeare Play this Week!

Students in 5th & 6th grade will present the annual Shakespeare Play. This years' play is "Much Ado About Nothing". The students have worked hard and are ready to share their talents. Thanks to Leisha Black, Shana Heyn and company for directing the play, and to our many parent volunteers helping behind the scenes to make it a success!

Parents, join us this week on Wednesday or Thursday evening, March 20th & 21st at 7:00 p.m. for a wonderful performance.
